

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

This is an attempt to "give" President Bush a free advertisement. I'm sure that a completely biased program cannot legitimately serve as news. It is not even thinly veiled. Therefore, the Bush campaign either owes Sinclair money for the broadcast, or it shouldn't be allowed.

I believe the FCC should conduct an investigation to determine if laws are being broken.
